

Design on the Edge: A Century of Teaching Architecture at the University of California, Berkeley, 1903-2003

Edited by Waverly Lowell, Elizabeth Byrne, and Betsy Frederick-Rothwell, this is an engaging and thoughtful review of the first one hundred years of architectural education at UC Berkeley. The illustrated monograph of approximately 370 pages combines scholarly essays written by faculty about the development, contributions, and future of the program; reflections of faculty and alumni about their experiences here; a timeline/ chronology; lists of key people and contributions; a color portfolio of a century of student drawings; and appendices of architecture faculty. It is intended for alumni, students, faculty, architectural historians, and the general public.

Proceeds support the Environmental Design Archives.

$55 (tax included) ($10 additional for shipping)
$38.50 (tax included) for currently enrolled CED students

Please send me _____ copies of Design on the Edge

Make check payable in U.S. dollars to UC Regents and specify for Design on the Edge

My check for $_____ is enclosed.

My additional contribution of $_____ to the Environmental Design Archives is also enclosed.

Send my copies to the name and address below:

NAME: (please print) _____

ADDRESS: _____

CITY/STATE/ZIP _____ COUNTRY (IF NOT USA) _____

Send Order to:
 Environmental Design Archives, College of Environmental Design
 University of California, 230 Wurster Hall #1820
 Berkeley, CA 94720-1820