“the area between Valparaiso and Caleta Portales with some of the best beaches respond to the future needs of implementing exchange spaces between city and water. These spaces could support tourism, fishing with plazas, open spaces....”

- Marianne Stuck

.... to explore the possibilities of intervention at the urban edge through designing remnant areas, to create a place of connections between the different urban sections of the city...